The Louisville Democrat gives the following paragraph from the Galveston Civilian of late date: "The Kentucky Regiment under Col. Marshall, numbering about 800, is encamped at the mouth of the Lavacca, with 200 men on the sick list, owing to the fatigues of a long march. This regiment has just received orders to march forthwith to Camargo. The Tennessee Regiment is daily expected .-Neither of these regiments were intended to join Gen. Wool. An arrival at Port Lavacca which left Matamoras on the 18th Sept., reports that news had been received from Gen. Taylor, to the effect that he was marching upon Monterey with 8000 men and was within a few miles of that city. Monterey was said to be defended with a force of 15000 Mexicans under Gen. Ampudia."

From the New Orleans Delta, Sept. 30. From Texas.

The steamship Galveston, Capt. Wright, arrived yesterday from Lavaca and Galveston. She has brought us files of papers from the several cities of Texas. Our last advices from San Antonio were to the 10th. There is in the Austin Democrat of the 16th a letter from the editor, dated San Antonio Sept. 12th, which is the latest.

Capt. Cady (whom Col. Harney has left in command of Presidio Rio Grande, and whose men, in crossing the river to return to San Antonio, were, as our San Antonio correspondent stated, fired on by the Mexicans who lay in Ambush,) has furnished to the acting Adjutant-General at San Antonio an official account of the affair, differing in no essential from our correspondent's letter. He also furnishes the following list of those wounded and missing after the

We learn that an express was despatched to meet the Kentucky and Tennessee regiments of volunteers on their way to San Antonio, instructing them not to proceed to that place, but to direct their steps to Fort Lavaca, where they will remain until further orders, which will depend upon the result of the negotiation now going on with Mexico. The reason of the order is, that by quartering near the bay the transportation of supplies, we learn, would be saved. The Kentucky regiment, we learn, would cross the Colorado at Lagrange on vesterday, and may be expected here early

The Captain started on their trails in a few hours after them, with forty of his men, and has been gone several days. We hope that he may be successful in trailing them to their camp and fighting them, without any regard to their protestations of innocence, or of being treaty-making Indians. No lives were lost from the storm, though six of the volunteers died after leaving Point Isabel-four at sea, and two after the vesse went ashore. We have been unable to obtain all their names.
